Food processing is an important link between agriculture sector and the consumers. Importance of logistics and supply chain management is increasing at the global level especially in food processing. The policy makers have identified food processing as a key sector which will increase growth in sectors like manufacturing, packaging, supply chain and transportation. The Indian food processing sector is poised to attract $ 33 billion of investments and generate employment of 9 million person days by the year 2024.

According to the data provided by the Department of Industrial Policies and Promotion (DIPP), the food processing sector in India has received around US $ 7.54 billion worth of Foreign Direct Investment (FDI) during the period April 2000-March 2017.
