The food and beverage technology companies and buyers are excited to restart the growth journey with the 15th edition of ANUTEC - International FoodTec India and its co-located exhibitions. The industry has undergone radical changes within the past two years, and its dynamics have entirely changed. To address this, the advancements in producing food and beverage that conform to consumer demands are already available, and ANUTEC - International FoodTec India is providing a platform to entire F&B producers to explore the available innovations.

Having the four exhibitions co-located makes it the most comprehensive event that caters to the needs starting from processing all the way to packaging and final delivery using advanced logistics services. Furthermore, the event will feature on-site seminars on Supply Chain, Packaging, and Food Processing conducted by renowned institutions such as Logistic Insider, Indian Flexible Packaging & Folding Carton Manufacturers Association, and All India Food Processors' Association. Also, the topnotch F&B producers have already confirmed their visit to the exhibition.
